About Palisades Tahoe

Over 600,000 guests visit Palisades Tahoe each year to enjoy the terrain, snow, and on-mountain dining. As the third largest ski resort in the U.S. and part of Alterra Mountain Company, Palisades gained international recognition hosting the 1960 Winter Olympics and continues to invest in tech and services that elevate the guest experience.

Challenges

Nobody wants to spend their ski day in line, but minimizing waits is a major challenge. Palisades Tahoe faced common industry constraints while seeking ways to eliminate lines at their cafes.

Peak service hours: Over 70% of food and beverage sales happen between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., making fast service critical to guest satisfaction and daily revenue.

Staffing challenges: Like many resorts, Palisades struggles with seasonal hiring. Limited staff during peak hours makes it hard to meet demand.

These factors led to long lines at cafes and forced closures of some food outlets during early and late season.

To solve this, Christian Andersen, Senior Manager of Food and Beverage, turned to Mashgin to speed up service, enhance guest experience, and grow sales, all without needing more staff.

Choosing Mashgin

Palisades installed 26 Mashgin kiosks across seven cafes. Skiers place their tray and pay in seconds with a card or season pass.

Each staff member manages four kiosks, reducing lines and letting them focus more on guest service.

Results came fast: shorter lines and higher revenue. “Before Mashgin, we’d sometimes have lines as long as 15 minutes during the peak season at The ARC,” said Andersen. “Now lines are almost gone completely. Even on the busiest days they will only be 1–2 minutes.” The faster-moving lines boosted sales for cafes by as much as 40% on peak days compared with past years.

With fewer cashiers needed per outlet, Palisades can now keep more cafes open year-round, offering guests more options and boosting F&B revenue. Operations are also smoother. Mashgin’s cloud-based menu system and digital boards let staff update food items and pricing in minutes, not weeks.

Real-time reporting with custom tags helps the team track performance across cafes and formats, and see which items drive sales. Integration with the Ikon Pass streamlines checkout and gives insight into passholder spending.

Following Palisades’ success, Alterra Mountain Company is rolling out Mashgin kiosks across more resorts to beat the lunch rush and get guests back on the slopes faster.
